Real science. Real fun!

Labour Day Play Day – Presented by SaskCentral

(September 2, 2019) – Regina, SK – To celebrate the end of summer and start of the new school year, the Saskatchewan Science Centre hosted a day full of fun and excitement on September 2nd, 2019, Labour Day. The event, “Labour Day Play Day”, was sponsored by SaskCentral, and was hosted by the Saskatchewan Science Centre

The day started right at 12PM. Visitors were able to enter the Saskatchewan Science Centre and pay a lowered admission rate than usual. This $6 rate was reflective of the Centre’s 30th anniversary, which used the same admission rate as the Centre used in 1989. Pre-purchasing tickets was available through the Saskatchewan Science Centre’s website, as well as at the door.

Starting at 12PM and continuing through the afternoon until 6PM, the Saskatchewan Science Centre had a variety of activities for visitors to take part in. The day was filled with carnival fun. Visitors were able to navigate a tightrope. Join a gymnastic troupe and create a midway game to take home. Stage shows also ran all day, featuring “science oddities” for the public to view. In addition, they could personalize a button, get a spray on tattoo, and try spikeball. Cotton candy, mini donuts, and snow cones were sold at the event.

The day was a success, with more than 1600 people in attendance. Sandy Baumgartner, CEO of the Saskatchewan Science Centre said that “Thanks to the generosity of SaskCentral we were able to host this family-friendly, fun-filled day at the Saskatchewan Science Centre. It was a great way for visitors to say farewell to summer, experience a little bit of joy in JoyLab, and spend time with friends and family.”
